TUESDAY......JUNE 21, 1892.

To-Day. To-day at Chicago will begin the busiof the Democratic National Convention of 1892. To day the contests for seats will be considered and we might add decided at least in committee. To-day the work of electioneering for favorites will be carried on in grand style. To-day Chicago will groan and sweat under a weary load." To-day the telegraph will tremble under 10,000 messages. To-day the people at home will congregate at bulletin-boards in the cities and country stores in the rural districts to get the first obtainable news from the place-not a Meeca by any means-towards which the eyes of all the people are turned. To-day is "big with the fate of Casan and of Rome." To-day we shall all forget for a time our selves and our own petty personal interests and seek the welfare of the public. Today we shall all be patriots and know what it is to desire the welfare of the country more than we desire the success of any person or personal policy. To-day, gentle reader, the country will demand your time and attention for a while. Who constitute the country? In the language of the clerks of the courts, who repeat that form of words so often, we say: "Which country you are." Yes, you are yourselves the country, and the Chicago convention will recognize that fact in its platform and in its nominations. In the words of Father RITCHIE, "We shall see."

Silver-

Several pro-silver and anti-silver communications have recently appeared in our columns upon which we might have offered a word of comment, but did not. We give our correspondents five times as much room as we claim for ourselves. As we have often explained, we would be willing to try the free coinage of silver as an experiment that might result in incaloft might gain by fearing to attempt." We wish to emphasize the statement that silver has not been remonetized in the Inited States. The Bland law's fatal de-ect was that instead of providing for the cinage of silver, it by its terms conrerted silver into a mere commodity. is passing strange that Mr. BLAND and his followers did not in 1878 perceive the unvarying truth of the averment that to go gold above silver and to provide for measuring silver by gold, although gold is comed free at all the mints of the United culable benefit to the world and our own its form changed from that of bullion to that of the coins of UNCLE SAM. It will be seen that the monometallists base their argument upon a false assumption. They assume that silver has been remonetized, when the fact is that silver has, by the action of its own pretended friends, been reduced to the condition of a mere commodity.

If silver cannot be coined free at the mints it is not fit to be money. We are surprised that this truth does not penetrate the craniums of our Republican triends. Here is the leading organ of the Republican party in the United States-the New York Tribune—which seriously claims that the act of Congress "passed in 1890 by Republican votes against solid Democratic opposition" was proper legislation and yet that act provided for buying fifty. four millions of dollars worth of silver In other words, the whole influence of the United States Government was brought into requisition to keep silver from becoming the equal of gold. Strange it is indeed that the objections to the com-modity dollar do not suggest themselves to every well-posted monometallist. We expect the Democratic National Convention to put into its platform to-morrow a declaration on the subject of silver money that will hardly be as objectionable as the plank put into the Republican platform at Minneapolis. We would not have our national convention to put a mono metallist upon a bimetallist platform, nor a bimetallist upon a monometallist platform. We would prefer a straightout, honest battle for the right, and both sides cannot possibly be right.

Wild-Cat Banks. Last week, in describing the wild-cat banks of other days, we omitted to mention that in those days one Thompson is-sued a bank-note reporter, which had a large circulation all over the United States and was intended to enable every man to be a judge as to the soundness of the banks issuing the notes and the genuineness of the notes themselves. How would you like to return to those "good old days"? A member of the national House of Rep-robbers. He said:

"Some want to go back to the methods of those days. I do not. How long is it since you saw a copy of Thompson's bank-note detector? How many of you have looked at the bills paid you, even after all this talk about the debased silver dollar, to see if your bill was a silver certificate or a legal tender? You read frequently of the fatiure of a national bank. Did any of you ever think to look if you had any bills on the broken time to wear out that suit. think to lock it you had any bills on the broken bank? I will answer for you. No! You did not care if it was broke. Your bill was just as good, and to-day when a farmer sells his wheat or corn or hay or fruit and takes for it silver certificates or legal tenders he only notices the number, the stamp. He knows it is good."

choose by vote whether they would have ound, safe, good banks, or wild-cat banks and an abundance of flat money, we cannot doubt that a large majority of them would ask for notes as good as "Benron

Postal Improvements.

We are always glad to find our people interested in postal reforms. These ought to concern them more than the wise exons of factional partisans in regard to the probable action of the Chicago con-vention. The following suggested postal reform comes from a man who is entitled to be heard. He writes us:

forms filled out by the pennitess approaus requires two cents. Any justice here?

Let the postage depand upon the scaling, and let whatever will require two cents if scaled go for one cent if not scaled. If I choose to send a letter unscaled let it go for one cent. If I scal is let me pay two cents. This will also do away with the inspection required of postmasters and that they so frequently full to make.

Commenting upon the expression of the Minneapolis platform regarding the force bill, the Nation says: "The whites of the South know that if Hannison is re-elected and with him a Republican Congress an attempt will be made to pass a law every whit as obnoxious as the one pushed aside by the Fitty-first Congress." "Attempt" is putting it mildly. If the Democrats should permit the conditions named by the Nation to come about—and it is in their power to prevent this—a force bill will be passed by the next Congress. That is the prominent and overshadowing fact that should be kept before every southern Democrat in this campaign.

Everybody will, as our neighbor of the State says, sympathize with Mr. Blaing in the great affliction which has befallen him in the death of his son Emmons. We have always felt a great admiration for Mr. BLAINE, and we cannot but regret deeply that, like LEAR, he has to stand the "pitiless pelting of a storm of misfortunes." Two sons dead, a third unhappily married. his own health bad as bad could well be, a disastrous defeat at Minneapolis, and other contributors to his daily sorrow. Poor, poor BLAINE!

Who but would weep if such a man there be?

They may be kept dried for years and yet when placed in a suitable medium will come to the and produce fermentation and decay. They are the great producers of malaria, fever, grip, and most serious diseases.

"But," you say, "what can be done to avoid them, since they cannot be killed by boiling;" There is but one thing which will effectively destroy them, and that is coming in contact with spirits. A small amount of pure spirits in the water will effects but it should be borne in mind that nothing but the purest and best spirits should be used for this purpose and that nothing is equal to whiskey. Not the ordinary whiskeys which are upon the market, but something for above them—symmething which is highly endersed by the scientific world. Such a whiskey is Dudy's Pure Mail, which is to-day more popular than ever before in its history, and which is doing wonders to destroy the germs of every disease. There are hundreds of tamilies that use it constantly in connection with their draking-water-both at the table and between meals.
